

Stock Market Scandal Cited By Commission

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest stock market scandal in 23 years has hit the American Stock Exchange and further revelations seem certain.
The nation's second largest, fastest growing stock exchange was hit Friday by federal investigators who cited evidence of "manipulation and prolonged abuses" of market safeguards adopted after Wall Street's 1929 debacle.
In a 127-page report, the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission ripped into the American Exchange in terms reminiscent of a similar reform probe of the larger, neighboring New York Stock Exchange in 1938-39.
The American Exchange had no immediate comment on the document.
Three developments were expected to flow from the SEC's action:

1. Increased pressure on the exchange, known to Wall Streeters as the Amex, to adopt reforms more sweeping than those already in the works.
 2. Formal proceedings by the SEC and perhaps the Justice Department, against some of the Amex members named as wrongdoers.
 3. More vigorous policing of exchanges by the SEC.
- The Amex investigation, and a broader SEC study of the entire securities business, authorized by Congress and just getting started, grew out of commission proceedings against Jerry and Gerard Res, prominent Amex specialists.
The Res, father and son, were expelled from the exchange last May for multiple stock rigging and illegal transactions involving more than $10 million. They have since been arrested on criminal charges.
The scope of the Res case jarred the SEC because as specialists they held the most important positions in the market, being responsible for the conduct of fair and orderly auctions in assigned stocks.
Reporting on the follow-up inquiry, the SEC investigators charged that:
"Top Amex officials had conflicts of interest that may have curbed their freedom to enforce honesty on the trading floor. Among those named in this connection was Edward T. McCormick, a former SEC commissioner who was ousted as Amex president on Dec. 11.

Ticks Can Be Controlled All Season

Season long control of ticks can be obtained in Hempstead County through use of modern insecticides such as chlordane, heptachlor or dieldrin, reports Calvin Caldwell, county agent.
Early applications during February kill adult ticks and prevent eggs from hatching. Eggs should be made to spray infested lawns and playground areas soon, Mr. Caldwell said.
The granular form of insecticide is the easiest to apply. He says granules may be applied by cyclone seeder or broadcast by hand or with a small fertilizer distributor. Two pounds of a five per cent granular insecticide should be used for each 1,000 square feet of lawn. 20 lbs. of five per cent or 10 pounds of 10 per cent covers an acre.

Weather

Experiment Station report for 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. Saturday: High 60; low 22; precipitation none. Total precipitation for 1961 was 58.09 inches; for 1960 total was 50.93.
Cold wave warnings. Much colder tonight with snow flurries in north portion. High today 28 to 35. Cloudy and a little warmer Sunday.

PENCILS FOR PANAMA—This necklace of pencils worn by Ann Ruffing is symbolic of people-to-people aid extended to Latin Americans by U.S. citizens. Specifically, these pencils and thousands more are being sent to Panama by employees of the Nationwide Insurance Co. office at Columbus, Ohio, as a private project. This aid is in addition to the $165,000 the firm's workers have contributed for self-help projects (kerosene lamps, tools, etc.) in Honduras, Costa Rica, Guatemala and Panama. Will Hellerman, left, relayed message after visiting Panama: "Send pencils for the kids."

Chance D... for State to Save Seat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Time is running out for Congress to enlarge the membership of the House and thus keep Mississippi and Arkansas from losing a total of three seats.
Under the new alignment of the 435 House seats as a result of population shifts shown by the 1960 census Arkansas is to lose two and Mississippi one. Each now has six.
Arkansas' legislature already has acted to reduce its districts to four for next fall's election but Mississippi has yet to resolve its problem.
Although Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., author of a bill to increase the House membership, said he still is enthusiastic about his bill's prospects, various House leaders and members have indicated the measure has little chance of passage.
Chelf's bill, introduced last year, calls for an increase of 34 seats. It would save one seat each for Arkansas and Mississippi.
The late Rep. Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., speaker of the House was sympathetic to the problem of the states losing members but he opposed the bill. He said the House already is too big and unwieldy with 435 members and that to add more would aggravate the problem.

Its Christmas in Little Village

RODANTIE, N.C. (AP)—It's Christmas today in this little village on North Carolina's Outer Banks.
This time, it's Old Christmas, which is observed here each year on Jan. 5.
"We celebrate Old Christmas on Jan. 5 because that was the date our fathers and their fathers celebrated," a villager once said.
In some parts of the world an Old Christmas is observed on Jan. 6—the Epiphany or Twelfth Day.
The most popular theory about the observance here is that it resulted from the loss of 11 days when Great Britain and the American colonies changed from the Julian to the Gregorian calendar in 1752.
This year, because Old Christmas falls on Friday, the customary festivities will be delayed until Saturday to allow relatives of the villagers to return without missing work or school.
Old Christmas, like the Christmas of Dec. 25, is a time of homecoming, and many people who have left the island return each year at this time.

Kidnaping Filed Against Couple

MEMPHIS (AP)—A federal kidnaping warrant was filed against a Texas couple here Thursday in the robbery-abduction of a Memphis liquor store clerk.
The complaint identified the pair as Charles Terry Slater and Billy Jean Hellen. They are accused of robbing Max Phillips, 62, of about $150 last Friday and forcing him at knife point to accompany them to West Memphis, Ark., where he was released.
The identity of the pair was established through the Memphis hotel where they were registered. Phillips said they drove to the hotel and checked out after he was abducted.

Asks Pardon for Convict Kimble Berry

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A resolution asking a pardon for 24-year-old fugitive convict Kimble Berry is before the Rules Committee of the Mississippi Legislature.
Rep. Richard Arrington of Copiah county offered the resolution on Berry, under bond in Massachusetts, could return to Mississippi and testify to the circumstances under which he obtained a Christmas leave from state prison at Parchman.
Meanwhile, in Lynn, Mass., Berry's lawyer, Frank E. Riley Jr., said he would ask Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe for help in keeping Berry in that state. Berry was quoted saying he was safer there than in Mississippi, where his fantastic story of having been released from prison so he could recover the lot in a half-million-dollar burglary made him a controversial figure.
Martin Farley of Corinth, chairman of the state Probation and Parole Board, revealed he requested the 10-day leave for Berry. Farley said he felt fully justified in recommending the leave, but he would not give his reasons.
Prison Supt. Fred Jones said Thursday Berry and his Parchman cellmate "cooked up" a fake hunt for the loot to spring Berry from prison. Jones said Berry knew the stolen securities were not in a Keiser, Ark., bank before he was handed power of attorney by his cellmate, Aubrey Botts, who is under 39-year sentence for his part in the burglary.
"I don't believe there is any loot," Jones said.
There have been reports that many of the securities were burned shortly after the burglary.
Jones said the involved transaction began last November when Botts tried to hire a lawyer to get a reduction in his burglary sentence. Jackson Attorney John Gregg, campaign manager for Gov. Ross Barnett in 1959, met Botts at the prison and agreed to take his case.
Jones said prison workers told him Berry left the prison with a Gulfport, Miss., architect, Lloyd Joe Day, and Marshall Power of Pensacola, Fla. Jones said they were in Day's auto. Day claims Berry was picked up as a hitchhiker and stole the car.
Meanwhile, Berry has been freed from jail in Lynn on $5,000 bail to appear Jan. 31 on charges of being a fugitive from his home state.
He touched off the furor recently when, in a copyrighted article for the Boston Globe, he said he was given a gun, a car and $20, and released from prison to recover the loot.

Man Finds Woman Who Nursed Him

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A man's search for a neighbor who nursed him back to health 43 years ago, ended in success today.
Mrs. Elmer Schumaker of Pompano Beach, Fla., confirmed that she helped care for Richard Tyler in Dayton in 1919 when he suffered a bout with brain fever.
Tyler, now living in the Cincinnati, Ohio, suburb of Norwood, said doctors treating him for a heart ailment have given him up to 18 months to live. He said he wants to leave his $12,000 estate to Mrs. Schumaker out of gratitude for her kindness more than four decades ago.
Mrs. Schumaker said she was "flabbergasted" when she received a call from a Dayton friend Thursday night.
"I didn't sleep a wink last night. I didn't believe it at first," she said.
Tyler had asked the Dayton Daily News for help in locating Mrs. Schumaker. "I don't have much, but I'd like her to have it. I've always felt a debt of gratitude," he said.
Mrs. Schumaker said she well remembers Tyler. She said she recalled taking him soup and helping care for him. "He was all alone and in a coma part of the time."
The Schumakers moved to Miami Beach from Dayton in 1955. They managed a motel near there. Giving up the motel 2½ years ago because of Schumaker's poor health, they moved to Pompano Beach.
She said she plans to write to Tyler.

Reactor to Get a Bubble Test

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission will give the shell of its new $40 million gas-cooled reactor a soap-bubble test to check for leaks before giving Jan. 8.
A detergent solution, similar to that sold to young bubble-blowers at toy counters, will be smeared on the inner wall of the huge containment shell. Air will be pumped into the shell. If there are any leaks in the reactor, AEC officials said, bubbles should form on the surface.

JFK and Mills Meet to Discuss Two Programs

By EDMOND LE BRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sits down to a private conversation today with the congressman who, perhaps more than any of his colleagues, can help or hinder two top administration legislative efforts.
Kennedy asked Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee to come to the White House for the talk. Mills has said he wasn't told what the subjects would be. But it is easy to guess: A greatly broadened reciprocal trade program and health care for the aged under Social Security.
Both are officially tax measures and therefore under the jurisdiction of the Ways and Means Committee.
The conference with Mills, an Arkansas Democrat, starts a series of talks Kennedy will hold in the next few days on his domestic program and on national security matters.
The President returned Friday night from Palm Beach, where he had been since Dec. 19 when his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, 73, suffered a stroke.
Kennedy flies to Columbus, Ohio, late today to attend a birthday tribute to Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. Otherwise, he plans to work through the weekend.
Mills and the committee as a whole, which consists of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans, have a record of favoring the reciprocal trade program. The guessing is the committee will give the President much of what he wants in this field.
The Social Security health plan is another story. No version of such legislation has ever received more than nine favorable votes in the Ways and Means Committee—all Democratic but not including the chairman's. Chances that the committee will approve the legislation, not bright at best, are considered dim to the point of invisibility unless Mills' attitude changes. There was no indication up to the meeting with Kennedy that it had.
Yet some Democratic leaders have let it be known that the health legislation should have top priority among domestic measures in a year when the whole House and a third of the Senate come up for election. Democratic strategists say the bill has wide appeal not only to the aged, but to younger families helping older parents. They want the measure passed, or at the very least a Democratic record of a hard fight for it, topped by a roll call.
Before leaving Florida Kennedy was told by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson that the United States achieved a greater rate of progress than any other country in the 1961 space race.

The sanctions were continued during the island's stormy period after Trujillo's assassination last May 30.
Balaguer reported Wednesday that some 600,000 to 700,000 persons, more than half the working population, are unemployed.
Jose A. Mora, secretary-general of the OAS, was due in Santo Domingo today to discuss technical assistance the OAS can offer for economic and social planning.
And, State Department officials said, the OAS action means an automatic increase of 105,000 tons in the Dominican Republic's sugar quota for January-June, 1962. They said this plus an increase of 316,000 tons announced recently will pump an extra $26.5 million into the island's economy in the next six months.
The United States pays 5.5 cents a pound for sugar, about 3.25 cents a pound above the world market. The two increases in the Dominican quota—which had been running at only 43,000 tons—come from the amount which the United States used to buy from Cuba.

Machine at Delight Egg Farm Breaks 100,000 Dozen Eggs Weekly for Various Uses

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Humpty Dumpty would feel right at home in Hope at Delight Egg Farms Inc., on South Main Street, next to the A&P Food Store. That's because broken eggs are not only as every day occurrence there, but an every minute happening. Furthermore, it is by intention, not accident, and by machinery, not human hands that the breaking takes place.
About Oct. 1, an Egg Breaking Plant got underway at this location and it is one of the most modern plants in the entire U.S. The eggs are broken and sold in liquid form to food manufacturing companies which use eggs in products such as macaroni, mayonnaise and cake.
Heretofore, the egg breaking had been done by hand with workers carefully separating the yolks and the whites. Now, two automatic egg breaking machines make short work of a previously tedious task. Each machine will break 100 eggs (4 dozen) per minute for a plant total of 12,000 eggs broken per hour. In 4 weeks, from 60,000 to 100,000 dozen are broken. The machines also separate the yolks from the whites, discard the shells, and degerm the liquid eggs to the usually takes several hours to right consistency for mixing with other ingredients.
If whole eggs are desired, the two machines can be adjusted so the eggs are not separated. Either whole eggs, egg yolks or egg whites can be put into 30 pound cans and frozen until shipment is made. Since broken eggs are equally good as white eggs but they don't have the attractive appeal, and the commercial value, of white eggs, the normally little brown ones are the ones often made into the liquid form.
Selling liquid eggs all over the U.S. to food manufacturers, the Hope plant is the only one of its kind in the southwestern part of the country. It takes just a dozen people to operate the entire procedure of the egg breaking plant. The eight women employees wear hair nets for sanitary purposes and plastic shoes covers for their own protection. This latter precaution is because the floor on which they stand is constantly wet. On the other hand, the four men employees are often seen donning overalls, a prelude to entering the freezing storage area

Sues Bank That Turned Back Check

LONDON (AP)—Liquor dealer James Black is suing his bank for libel because he claims it bounced a check of his when he had money in his account to cover it.
He is also suing the Westminster Bank for breach of contract for the alleged refusal of the check for 93 pounds ($150.40).

Economic Ban on Dominican Is Removed

By LARRY OSIUS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Removal of diplomatic and economic sanctions against the Dominican Republic has triggered quick action to relieve the Caribbean Island's ailing economy.
A vote by the council of the Organization of American States Wednesday to remove sanctions cleared the way for an immediate increase in the amount of sugar which the United States buys—at high prices—from the Dominican Republic.
The vote was 20-0 with Cuba abstaining on grounds that removal of sanctions was a U.S. plot to establish a puppet Dominican regime. The OAS decision set off a series of moves by the United States and Latin-American nations to resume normal diplomatic and economic relations with the island republic.
President Jaquin Balaguer said the OAS action will lead to "opening the doors to great possibilities on the economic front."
Balaguer, head of a compromise council of government established last Monday, reaffirmed he will step down as head of government before the end of next month. He had vowed to quit if the sanctions were removed.
The sanctions were voted in 1960 after an inter-American foreign ministers meeting in Costa Rica. The late Dominican dictator, Rafael L. Trujillo, was implicated in a plot to kill Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt.

Laos Princes Asked to Form Coalition Gov.

GENEVA (AP)—The big powers put new pressure on the three feuding princes of Laos today to get together for another try at forming a coalition government in that Southeast Asia kingdom.
Western diplomats here and in Vientiane tended to discount claims of the Royal Laotian government that the Communists had launched a big offensive leading to a flareup of fighting on a wide scale.
The 14-nation conference trying to neutralize Laos decided Friday to invite neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, pro-Western Prince Boun Oum and pro-Communist Souphanouvong to Geneva to settle their differences.
Representatives of the three princes here expressed approval of the idea of summit talks, which have the support of the Soviet Union and Red China as well as the Western powers.
Following embargoed for 11 a.m. EST.
In formally issuing the invitation today, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko warned the three political princes that failure to form a government and send a unified delegation to Geneva threatened to wreck the conference on Laos.
Acting as nominal cochairmen of the Geneva conference, they appealed to the princes to come to Geneva as soon as possible. The appeal, the third in six weeks, warned that the work of the Geneva conference might "come to nothing" unless a united Laotian delegation appeared.
Western and Communist diplomats in Geneva have reached agreement on a cease-fire and a statute of permanent neutrality for Laos. They would like the princes to agree on these and other matters, but the Laotian leaders have failed in several attempts to set up a unity cabinet. The main argument is who should control the key ministries of defense and interior.
Souvanna Phouma, who was in Paris, has proposed that neutralists get both posts, but the defense minister should have a "troika" of deputies from each of the three factions.
Boun Oum has rejected this idea, despite the fact that the United States and other Western powers support it.
During the past few days Boun Oum's government has issued a series of communiques charging that two regiments from Communist North Viet Nam had moved into northeastern Xieng Khouang Province and claiming that fierce fighting has broken out. Such claims of mass Red troop intervention have proved greatly exaggerated in the past.
Westerners in Vientiane said they had received no evidence from the field to support such claims aside from reports of some skirmishing.

Sharp Cut in Draft Calls Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced today a sharp cut in draft calls for the next two months because the Army has reached its buildup goal.
The February draft call was set at 8,000 men and the March call at 6,000, all for the Army.
This was the lowest since last July, just before the U.S. began building up its military strength in the face of Russian threats to push the West out of Berlin.
The Pentagon said that as a result of higher draft calls and other actions the "strength objective of the Army, including provisions for manning the two new Army divisions, has now been reached."
Since the start of the buildup, the announcement said, there has been more than a 20 per cent improvement in enlistments. Half of the total manpower gains during the buildup have been from inductions, it said.

Facts About Famous Beds Around World

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Elephants are the loudest snorers in the animal world—and have the biggest nightmares.

What man in history was the most fastidious sleeper? Well, King Louis XIV of France had 413 beds in which to lay his weary head.

Charles Dickens always had the head of his bed pointed due north. He felt he couldn't sleep any other way.

Actress Sarah Bernhardt had a bed 15 feet wide.

Those are a few fascinating facts about slumber dug up by researchers for a new production of "The Four Poster," to be aired over the CBS-TV network Jan. 13.

For those interested in the lore and folklore of mankind's long quest for comfortable sleep—and who isn't?—here are some more tidbits to nod over.

Half the people in America say they have trouble going to sleep. Married people have less insomnia than single people. The widowed and divorced have the most insomnia. College graduates sleep better than those with only a grammar school education.

The two worst enemies of sleep are a troubled conscience and pickled cucumbers.

The first bedsprings, made of leather thongs, were invented by the Greeks, who also originated the folding bed.

The word bed derives from an Indo-European term meaning "a dugout place for safe resting."

In biblical times, the common people slept on coarse cushions used as seats during the day, but Solomon had a bed made from aromatic cedar of Lebanon.

Cleopatra's bed was of ivory and gold. A gold god of love, a yard tall, stood on the footboard aiming a golden arrow at Egypt's queen.

Until the 16th century, even the nobility of Europe had no beds. Traveling barons lugged sacks of straw with them so they'd be sure of something to sleep on.

The first Queen Elizabeth of England slept almost in a sitting posture amid deep feather pillows atop a vast rosewood bed so high it required steps. Both Elizabeth and Catherine the Great of Russia liked to have their hair brushed until they dozed off.

Beds were so highly valued that William Shakespeare in his will specifically left his "second best bed" to his wife. The best bed presumably went to his favorite daughter.

August is the worst month for insomnia. If you want to stop a snorer, don't nudge him—just whistle gently. There are three men snorers for every woman snorer.

Wives read more often in bed than do husbands, take more sleeping pills, do more sleep walking, but talk less in their sleep—and women twist and turn in slumber 30 per cent less often than men. They are also less inclined to grind their teeth.

Some Difference

NEW YORK (AP) — "On one side there were Christmas trees and lights and a living city. On the other side it was dull and drab."

Thus Francis Cardinal Spellman described the divided city of Berlin Thursday on returning from a holiday visit to American overseas military bases.

Although it may be hard for the squeamish to reconcile themselves to the thought, the presence of the U.N. won't prevent cannibalism among nations altogether. At most it probably can only dull the appetite a bit.

The grand illusion—as the events of all the previous generations showed and the events of 1962 are bound to demonstrate anew—that man is a little bit more civilized than he used to be. Five thousand years from now, if there's a man left, one of our descendants, looking back on his ancestors of the 1960s who spent so much time talking about brains, will probably say: "Why, they just came down out of the trees."

The nice thing about that, of course, is that nobody around now will be around to hear him.

The natural waistline is apparent in these fashions for resort or cruise wear. White has gently flared skirt outlined in bows of the solid pink. Costume in now and summer later on. Apricot silk dress (left) has double panel skirt and double belt. Floral-printed Irish linen (center) in carnation pink. Length jacket is lined in the print. All designs are by Ben Barrack.

His Children By Former Marriage Try Her Soul

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I have a darling baby girl and a husband whom I dearly love. My problem is his children by a former marriage, aged 9 and 7.

He supports them and twice a month they come to stay with us. They are rude, hateful and ill-mannered. I bend backward to be nice but they won't give me a chance. Of course I realize that their mother eggs them on but that doesn't make it any the easier. She seems possessed of a demon.

As a consequence I'm a nervous wreck at the ripe old age of 23. My husband is only 29.

Is it fair that we be forever plagued by this she-devil? I've begged my husband to correct her children for they only mock me. All he does is yell and swear at them which makes matters worse. In the end they do exactly what they want. I feel as if the whole lot were gangling up against me. I'm seriously considering a separation for the behavior of these children could easily affect my little girl. What can I do? —Broken-Hearted Wife.

Dear Broken-Hearted: Don't run away from your problem. Face it. The most important thing in your life is your marriage. Suppose the stepchildren do cause trouble? You have a husband who loves you and a darling little girl whom you adore. They're worth fighting for.

Yours is a problem which could be arbitrated. Reason with your husband. Say that these visits from the children by his first wife must be as disrupting to them as to you. Picture the grilling they get from their mother after such visits. For their own, as well as your peace of mind, your husband either should see them elsewhere or ask the judge who granted these bi-monthly visits, to speak with their mother. It is her duty, not yours, to reprimand them.

Dear Helen: I am a senior in high school. The disciplinary measures of over strict, over-cautious parents have thrown me into the arms of an older man. The only love I get is from him. I often wonder, if they really knew my problem, would they continue to put me out in the cold. I write this as a warning to parents who fail to show their teen age children love. —Seventeen

Dear Seventeen: While I have the greatest compassion for youngsters such as you, don't seek an illicit affair. If your parents fail to take you in their arms and heart, all the more reason for being your own mentor. In the last analysis, we, not theirs, make or mar, our character. Put that older man on top of your life.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Teen-age Code."

Your Home Movies May Mean Money

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Take good care of your home movies. They might pay off some day.

Ken Murray's did. You can see them on the Show of the Week Sunday night over NBC-TV.

Of course not every maker of home movies has the cast of characters that Murray had. Nor the foresight.

"When I came out to Hollywood in 1927, I wanted to keep in close touch with my parents in New York," the comedian explained. "We were always a close family, and I knew they would want to know what I was doing. I guess I wanted to show them what a big shot I was, to."

"So I bought a movie camera and a projector. I left the projector with my folks in the East and I brought the camera to Hollywood. I shot all the movie stars I met, even if I just saw them on the street. I sent the movies home."

"When Murray's parents died a few years ago, he collected the old films and added them to the ones he had kept over the years. "I went on the Jack Paar show to plug my autobiography, 'Life on a Pogo Stick,'" he related. "I wanted to illustrate some of the things I had written about so I took some of the home movies along."

The stunt created a stir and prompted Murray to put some film together for a TV spectacular, complete with musical score. Murray previewed "Hollywood My Home Town" at a Romanoff's party, where he presented $10,000 to the Motion Picture Relief Fund as his thanks for the help of the stars in the film.

What memories the movie clips evoke — a vibrant, astonishingly handsome John Barrymore at the peak of his powers, W. C. Fields clowning on a movie street, Dick Powell, dimpled and boyish, Maurice Chevalier at the start of his Hollywood career.

Douglas Fairbanks Sr. in an impromptu vault over a railing, Tyrone power as a marine drill master, Marie Dressler, the all-time great mugger—and dozens more, right down to Pat Boone showing his kids Disneyland in a bizarre disguise.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Former cowboy movie star Hoot Gibson has been hospitalized for possible abdominal surgery. Gibson, 69, is in the Motion Picture Country Hospital at Woodland Hills in the San Fernando Valley. Hospital officials say the actor is not acutely ill.

He Was Disappointed

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Vickie Scaccia, 5-year-old daughter of Asst. U.S. Atty. Dante M. Scaccia, was disappointed when her father brought home a U.S. marshal as a dinner guest. That man couldn't be a marshal, she said. He wasn't wearing a six-gun or a cowboy hat.

Conferences on Tap for Top Officials

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy, eager to get his medical care, tax and tariff proposals on legislative wheels, flies back to Washington today for a series of tactical and advisory conferences.

Kennedy opens the advance campaign for his domestic program Saturday morning at the White House when he ranges over the outlook for the 1962 session of Congress with Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Mills' committee will handle legislation by which Kennedy hopes to provide medical care for the aged under the Social Security system, obtain tax incentives for industrial investment along with tax revisions to make up any loss in revenue, as well as authority to bargain with other governments for tariff reductions.

With Mills, the President's main project is to convert the Arkansas Democrat to support of the President's medical care plan.

Mills opposed the Social Security feature last year in favor of legislation he backed in 1960 with Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., to aid state medical care programs.

Sources close to Kennedy say he expects to get his own medical care program through Congress and to gain at least a measure of success with his tax and tariff proposals.

Kennedy scheduled a 4 p.m. takeoff for Washington. He will be returning to the capital a day ahead of his original timetable.

Kennedy still plans to speak Saturday at a Democratic fundraising dinner in Columbus on Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's birthday. Kennedy will return to Washington for Sunday talks on preparedness with Gen. Lucius D. Clay, his personal representative in Berlin, and Director John A. McCone of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Clay is returning to the capital amid reports of differences between Washington policymakers and U.S. officials in West Berlin on dealing with the situation in the divided German city. Presumably, this will figure in his talks with the President.

On Monday, the President is expected to meet with congressional leaders of both parties. He will be trying to muster support for his programs and soften opposition to them.

The chief executive departs in a more cheerful, if not contented, mood than when he sped to Palm Beach on Dec. 19 to be with his stricken father.

Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy was in serious condition after suffering a stroke. Thursday, Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the elder Kennedy continues to improve.

According to present plans Mrs. Kennedy will stay in Palm Beach with daughter Caroline, 4, and son John Jr. until next Wednesday. By returning then, she would be in Washington when Kennedy delivers his State of the Union Message to Congress, either Thursday or Friday.

Steel Official Dies

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP)—Benjamin F. Fairless, retired board chairman and president of U.S. Steel Corp., was buried Thursday at the St. Michael's of the Valley Episcopal Church Cemetery in nearby Rector.

Fairless died Monday at his home near Ligonier. He was 71.

No 'Joke' Report, Officer Suspended

MEMPHIS (AP)—A police lieutenant who failed to file a report on the investigation of a $10,000 "joke" has been suspended for three days.

Chief J. C. MacDonald said Lt. A. A. Maender should have made a report, though no charges were filed in the case, "so we would know what was going on."

Officers said the investigation came New Year's Eve when Frank Lawton of Memphis left a club carrying a shoe box belonging to another member, Joe McCollom of Hughes, Ark.

Lawton said he thought the box contained a pair of shoes and he took it as a practical joke. However, the box held $10,000 in cash—the receipts from McCollom's store.

The money was quickly returned.

Clay Called in to Discuss West Berlin

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay will fly here from West Berlin this weekend to confer with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on Berlin problems.

One purpose of the conference presumably is to discuss reported operational differences between U.S. officials in West Berlin and policymakers in Washington.

Clay is reported to have registered an objection with Rusk last month against instructions which sharply limit the freedom of action of the U.S. command in Berlin in dealing with a possible East German uprising along the East Berlin border wall.

High U.S. officials claim any differences between Clay and the administration are relatively minor in comparison with what they assert is basic agreement among Clay, Kennedy and Rusk on U.S. policy in Berlin.

Other informed authorities confirmed, however, that some differences do exist. Specifically, they say Clay feels strongly Washington cannot anticipate all possible emergencies which may arise and that authorities on the scene should have some power of action in such cases without waiting for detailed decisions from Washington.

From the administration's point of view, informants said, the problem is primarily one of deciding often at the White House level what action might be taken to serve long-range U.S. policy purposes. Moreover, officials said there is a constant need to consult with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies, particularly Britain, France and West Germany, and thus make sure of a coordinated response to any dangerous situation or new Communist challenge.

Clay is Kennedy's personal representative in West Berlin. He was the top American official in Germany at the time of the 1949 Communist blockade and his assignment to West Berlin by the President last summer was designed in part as a reassurance to the West Berliners that the United States intended to stand firm in their defense.

State Department officials said Clay's return to Washington for consultation had been planned for a week or more and was not related to the publication Wednesday of reports he had objected to instructions which in his view limited too severely the freedom of action of the U.S. military commander in Berlin, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson.

The Washington Evening Star reported that Clay had strongly protested to Rusk that Watson

Thinks Reds Trail U. S. in War Missiles

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. intelligence specialists believe the Soviet Union will trail the United States by about half a year in getting an advanced intercontinental ballistic missile ready for combat.

Informed sources said today the latest estimate is that the first such Soviet ICBM will be ready in early 1963.

The first solid-fuel Minuteman, this country's most advanced ICBM, is due to become operational this summer.

Updated intelligence information also indicates the Soviets, by pressing, may have three Polaris-type missile firing submarines by the end of this year. None has been seen so far.

The United States now has six nuclear-powered submarines, each capable of firing 16 Polaris missiles. The new defense budget is $10.7 billion. A seventh submarine is due to be commissioned in three weeks.

Before the end of this year the U.S. fleet will have a total of nine Polaris subs mounting 144 missiles.

The most recent intelligence estimates were believed to have been discussed by President Kennedy and top U.S. military leaders at meetings in Palm Beach, Fla., earlier this week.

Kennedy administration officials have felt for some time that the United States has an edge over the Soviets in deep-striking missiles.

The new intelligence estimates, sources said, point to a widening margin in favor of the United States when the Minutemen start coming along in numbers next year.

The most recent intelligence evaluations, sources said, credit the Soviets with what was called "startlingly few" liquid fuel ICBMs in place. They said the Soviets have three or four fewer than the United States, which has employed 45 liquid fuel Atlas ICBMs.

During the 1960 presidential campaign Democrats contended a serious "missile gap" was shaping up and would give the Soviets as much as a 3 to 1 advantage in ICBM's by the end of 1961.

The missile gap assumptions evidently were based on what was known of Soviet capacity to build, rather than on any firm knowledge of Soviet intentions.

The current U.S. program calls for replacing 600 Minutemen in underground, protected bases by 1965. A new defense budget is expected to boost the total to about 800.

Like the Soviets, most of the present U.S. liquid fuel missiles are on vulnerable above-ground launch pads.

U.S. intelligence credits the Soviets with a decided—and worrisome—strength in 300-to-500-mile-range missiles in Europe, where they could be used against Western countries. Many of these missiles estimated to total 300 to 400 are said to be on mobile firing beds.

However, U.S. officials feel that American aircraft carrying nuclear bombs more than counterbalance this Soviet power.

was not being given enough latitude to deal with possible East German uprisings in the city.

In Berlin, a spokesman for Clay said the report of the protest was "ridiculous."

Apart from this, however, there have been persistent reports of differences between Clay and the administration. Generally, these represent Clay as favoring swift and decisive reactions where possible in Communist moves.

Apollo Space Craft Is Unveiled

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) - The space agency made public today drawings of the Apollo spacecraft from which man may get his first close-up look at the moon.

The early model Apollo craft may enable its three-man crew to select likely landing areas for later versions designed to put human beings on the moon within this decade.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today also released three drawings showing the techniques of launching a manned spacecraft into earth orbit, launching a powerful booster rocket and supply vehicle into orbit space for the long journey to the moon.

The huge orbiting booster rocket, starting its motors in the near vacuum of space after hooking onto the Apollo vehicle, would drop away after accelerating the craft to escape velocity.

The Apollo craft would proceed around the moon, come back into earth orbit, and then be slowed so as to re-enter the atmosphere and return the crew to earth.

Officials said this was the shape that had proved—in wind tunnel studies at the space agency's Langley Field, Va., research laboratory—to be most satisfactory among a dozen different designs tested.

They said that while the astronauts would be seated for the launching, they would have a considerable amount of room in which to move about in flight. The roomy crew quarters were not shown in the compressed sketch.

The Apollo craft will be made up of sections that can be attached as required for different missions.

The command section, in the forward end of the lunar craft, contains mission control equipment, crew quarters, the equipment to support human life during flights of several weeks, and the devices involved in re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

A service section to the rear would provide mid-course correction, electric power and supplies. Other sections would provide equipment for guidance and navigation, moon reconnaissance and high speed re-entry and recovery.

North American Aviation Inc. has been awarded a $400 million contract to build the Apollo space craft. The space agency will direct the Apollo program from a new manned spacecraft center at Houston, Tex.

Coleman, Rev. Willie Pondexter, Calvin Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dockery were Christmas dinner guests of Mrs. Margaret Nell Williams and family.

Mrs. and Mrs. James Wright were holiday guests of their daughters Misses Jo Ann and Brenda Wright and their parents, Mrs. Anna Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Black.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jones of McCaskill have returned home after spending the holidays with them. They include Mrs. Mattie Carpenter, Ceatrice Jones and Mrs. Wonder Jones and children, Wiley Jones and Mrs. Eddie Jones, and children, and Charles Jones, all of Berkeley, Calif.; Mrs. Vanella Blocks and children, Mrs. Willie Bell Spears and children all of Kansas City and John Jones of Dallas, brother of Mr. Jones.

Other visitors on Christmas included Miss Sue Allen of El Dorado; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Suttles and baby, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Hill and children, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Bell, Ozark; Mrs. Zeffie Ogborn, and children of Flint, Mich.; Floyd and Elvin Walker and wife of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bizzell and children.

When the United States proclaimed its independence, Hawaii had not been discovered.

Alarm System in Hands of Defense

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The Air Defense Command formally takes control today of a far-flung alarm system capable of flashing word of a missile attack within seconds.

Installations at Thule, Greenland, and Clear, Alaska, have been completed by the Air Force Systems Command, which will turn them over to ADC. A third site is under construction at Fylingdales Moor, Yorkshire, England.

If the radar spots an object moving, echoes are analyzed quickly by computers which determine position and velocity of the object. Its course is calculated, and the warning is flashed along two separate routes to North American Air Defense Command headquarters in Colorado Springs.

The information then is flashed to the Pentagon and to the Strategic Air Command in Omaha.

The Road to the Snail

By WILLIAM P. MCGIVERN

THE STORY: Adam Barn, a writer, calls on Dennis Campbell to get a story about his building a road to his villa, The Snail. Adam writes for a number of magazines in the United States which feature exposures of various types.

Chapter XII
Adam Barn, I recalled, was a writer who had been working the southern coast of Spain for the past six or eight months. I don't think it was totally a matter of choice; he didn't make much money from his work and he couldn't afford the more expensive areas of Europe. In any case, just feeding himself would have absorbed most of his income. He was a huge round figure of a man with a great black mustache and small balet eyes, and he smashed and hacked his way through food with wild, compulsive energy, as if he were clearing out jungle underbrush, or mixing it up in a bar room brawl. At table he seemed to go berserk; his fists shot out and back like pistons, his elbows blocked off competitors, and his eyes kept a glittering watch on supplies, estimating how much he would have to accelerate his intake in order to get what was left.

Adam said to Dennis, "Okay, about the road. You're doing it because you hate Fascism, right? Hate Franco and all his bully boys. It's to pay him back, shove him up for a do-nothing, a fraud."

He snapped his fingers. "There's a title. Franco the Fraud. Or how about Francisco Franco, Falange Fraud. The thing is—"

"Please, old chap, hold on a minute." Denis smiled nervously. "You're absolutely wrong. This has nothing to do with politics. I'm building a road solely for my personal convenience. I think we should establish that from the start."

Adam shook his head firmly. "Won't do, won't do at all. How about this: you hate Spain, hate this manana crap, hate all the laziness and filth and dishonesty in the country. So you're going to expose all that by doing this job."

"No, no!" Dennis said with some heat. "You're fantastically wrong. I like Spain very much. The people are charming and friendly—and they're quite clean. Seriously, I insist you get things straight."

"Well, we might make an orgy out of it," he said thoughtfully. "Young girls lured into a community work project. Shorts and halters, singing in the sun. Then to the parties at night in the gypsy hills of Spain." He sucked at his teeth again, but the larder seemed to be bare. "There's a title! Captive Girls in Barbicarian Spain."

"Absurd," Dennis said. "Essentially true." Adam said, "Understand? Essentially? It could happen, right? And considering the deadbeats in the world, it's surprising it hasn't happened. You're always safe writing that everything stinks. Because it will, eventually. Get what I mean?"

"Frankly, no."

"Look at it this way," Adam said as patiently and indulgently as if he were trying to explain the Atom bomb to a small child. "There are just two kinds of writers in the world. The ones for things. And the ones against things. I call 'em yes writers and no writers. The yes writers are all out in Hollywood writing for television. They're for things. Love, marriage, babies, self-sacrifice, nice grandmothers, the future. Now, some big, serious writers pretend they're no writers. They're against things. They knock everybody." He looked darkly at Dennis. Until the last chapter. Then they hop over on the yes side. Johnny didn't mean to burn the penicillin so his sister died. He was just jealous and needs more affection. And Dad's not a drunk after all, he's just a problem drinker, and when the writer cures the problem - well everything's rosy."

"Me, I'm a no writer all the way down the line. No compromises. That road of yours has got to be lousy in some way. Because people are lousy. You're lousy, John's lousy. I think that should be clear enough."

"See here," Dennis said impatiently. "Why don't you get on the yes side for a change? I saw a job to be done. I'm having a go at it. It's simple as that."

"It's simple enough," Adam said.

"Me, I'm a no writer all the way down the line. No compromises. That road of yours has got to be lousy in some way. Because people are lousy. You're lousy, John's lousy. I think that should be clear enough."

"See here," Dennis said impatiently. "Why don't you get on the yes side for a change? I saw a job to be done. I'm having a go at it. It's simple as that."

Hope Loses 2; Plays Malvern Here Tonight

By VINCE FOSTER

Nashville took two games from Hope last night as the Scrappers handed the Bobcats their third defeat 58-41 and the Nashville Girls whipped the Lady Cats 28-23.

A cold shooting night for Hope and a hot one for Nashville proved to be the breaking point for the Cats. Leading 16-14 in the first quarter, the Scrappers jumped out front 28-22 at the half. They outscored Hope 18-10 and 12-9 in the final half to win 58-41.

Porterfield led the Cats with 12, followed by Powell with 9, Murphy with 8. Halffield with 6 and Roberts and Russell with 3 each. Blain led the victors with 18.

Tied 5-5 in the first quarter the Nashville Ladies pulled out front 15-9 at the half and 22-15 in the third quarter. Although Hope outscored them 8-6 in the final quarter, Nashville came out ahead 28-23. Lera Capetill took 14 for Hope, and Lloyd had 6, Duke 2, and Calhoun 1. Becky Utley was high for the victors with 19.

Tonight the Cats and Bobkittens, both district defending champions, open their conference season with Malvern in Jones Field House with the first game starting at 7 p.m. All are urged to attend these important contests.

When to Fish or Hunt Solunar Tables

By John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar period as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major periods are shown in bold face type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Shaking his head sadly, he turned away. "Amazing chap," Dennis said, as we paid the bill. He rubbed his hands together briskly, and I saw that he had already dismissed Adam from his mind.

"Oh, Come Let Us Sing Unto The Lord," For
There Is No Variableness
In God's Cause, Nor In His Justice, Then,
Come Let Us Go To Church

Change Works Its Corrosion Upon Us As We Approach Our
Rendezvous With Death
But, We Are Under
Sentence To Honor
God, To Ever
Support His Church

Do you ever consider the meaning of a day?... Just a single day?... One day out of the 365-day year? With you, what does a day mean???

Actually, it means 1440 moments of opportunity. It means 24 hours of precious fleeting lifetime. It means that life at best is short... that it is only a little while we have to make the journey down through the valley of time. Just what are you doing with this day and every day? You sin when you uselessly spend the days God gave you. Each day on the calendar is like "a sheet of paper white whereon each one of us may write his word or two and then comes night... though thou have time but for a line, be that sublime; not failure but low aim is crime." Go to church this week and ask the Lord to help you keep your aim high. Ask Him to help you plan well every moment of every hour of every day. What does a day mean to you?
